Background and Context

The Jumuiya ya Kaunti za Pwani (JKP) is the Coast region's inter-county economic cooperation framework bringing together the six coastal counties of Mombasa, Kwale, Kilifi, Tana River, Lamu, and Taita Taveta. Established in 2015, JKP was formed to provide a structured platform for joint planning, coordinated investments, and policy harmonisation in response to the opportunities and challenges of Kenya's devolved system of governance.

The establishment of JKP recognised that many of the Coast region's development challenges and opportunities are regional rather than county-specific—spanning shared ecosystems, transport corridors, labour markets, tourism circuits, value chains, and natural assets. Acting individually, counties risked fragmented planning and sub-optimal outcomes; acting collectively, they could unlock scale, coherence, and competitiveness.

Over the past decade, JKP has matured into a strategic regional economic bloc, providing a convening platform for Governors, County Governments, National Government agencies, development partners, the private sector, academia, and civil society. Through this platform, the region has advanced policy alignment, shared investment frameworks, and flagship regional programmes across priority sectors including agribusiness, blue economy, tourism, health, education, climate action, and youth empowerment.

Implementation of regional cooperation is guided by the Jumuiya 2030 Regional Economic Blueprint and operationalised through a Triple Helix Model that brings together government, the private sector, and academia to drive inclusive growth.

Central to this approach is the Jumuiya 10-Pillar Programme, which seeks to reduce poverty, expand economic opportunity, and catalyse long-term socio-economic transformation across the Coast region—anchored on the ethos of “Changing the Story.”

As JKP marks ten years of existence, the bloc does so at a critical inflection point. The region faces rising demographic pressures, climate and environmental risks, fiscal constraints, and shifting development finance dynamics—alongside unprecedented opportunities linked to regional trade, blue economy growth, infrastructure development, and private-sector-led investment. Against this backdrop, the Jumuiya @10 Celebrations are positioned not only as a moment of reflection and recognition, but as a strategic reset—to consolidate gains, draw lessons from the first decade, and articulate a shared vision for the Coast region's next phase of growth.

Purpose of Jumuiya@10

The Jumuiya @10 Celebrations are conceived as a high-level regional convening that will:
